Notes:

Qualifying to enter Open Slalom...

The Open slalom competition will be run to the normal open division rules of competition.

Mens slalom speed = 58km/h

Women slalom speed = 55km/h

To be eligible for qualification to enter the Open division slalom event the performances achieved by a skier that make up the their ranking database log must be performed at the Open division speeds for the respective division.

Background:

The ranking list itself is only a means to rank skiers in a single ranking list based on a common points calculation applied to Male and Female skiers. The difficulty when it comes to slalom is that there are a range of maximum speeds for both genders so the calculation determines a points value effectively on the basis of the number of buoys achieved counting back to a very low minimum speed. The count back start-pass for Male skiers is 37km/h and for Female skiers is 34km/h.

Using this base calculation method all skiers can be captured on a single ranking database for Male & Female genders. The ranking database process does not distinguish between divisions, only gender.

Where a slalom skier has made the top group of the slalom ranking list based on the points average value and whose maximum speed is not that of the respective gender Open division, then this skier unfortunately does not qualify to ski in the Open Slalom event. However, if that skier achieved the slalom performances logged in the ranking database at the Open Division maximum speeds then they would be eligible to qualify. This aspect at present has to be audited by hand when the ranking list is processed and qualifiers are listed.
